All Six Children of Panic-Stricken Mother Missing in Fire

CHICAGO — A panic-stricken mother who dropped her infant daughter from an upper window of a flaming tenement in a futile effort to save the child's life learned today that all six of her children probably perished in the blaze.

At least three children were known dead in the explosion and fire that gutted the overcrowded tenement Thursday. Five other children were listed as missing and presumed dead.

Chief Fire Marshal Raymond J. Dailey said as many as 12 to 15 persons may have died in the blaze.

The bodies of two children were recovered from the rubble Thursday night by firemen searching the debris. Authorities said they apparently were two of the six children of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilkins.

The Wilkins' 11-month-old daughter, Paula, was the only victim identified thus far.

Paula was killed when her mother dropped her from an upper window in hopes a bystander would catch the child. The baby, however, plummeted to her death on the sidewalk.

About 20 other children were dropped from windows of the flaming five-story structure to spectators below who caught them without injury. However, 21 persons were injured fleeing the flames in the all-Negro building, including Roosevelt Wilson, 11, reported in critical condition.

Dailey said 109 other tenants of the 76-year-old tenement were accounted for. But he said it was difficult to determine how many persons were in the building during the holocaust.

The known missing were the Wilkins' children, Brenda, 8, Donna, 6, Linda, 5, Roy Jr., 4, and Patricia Ann, 3, and two children of another family, Celestia Seninga, 8, and her brother, Willie, 11.

Saline County Faces Loss of Blood Program

Must Meet Quota Of Donors at Visit Of Bloodmobile

Unless a satisfactory number of blood donors is recorded on the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Saline county will be dropped from the Red Cross Blood Program, it was learned today by local Red Cross authorities. A report of county activity in the blood program is presented in an advertisement elsewhere in today's Daily Register.

The local Red Cross office has been informed that some chapters in the St. Louis Region have already been dropped from the blood program, others have received 60-day notices, and the local chapter is now being reviewed and will undoubtedly receive a 60-day notice if the county fails to meet its quota of donors when the Bloodmobile visits here Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 4 and 5. The Bloodmobile will be at the Harrisburg Elks club on Tuesday and the Education Building of the First Methodist church in Eldorado on Wednesday. Donors should report to either location between the hours of noon and 6 p. m.

The gravity of the situation is reflected in the alternatives remaining to the county if it is dropped from the program, the local Red Cross chapter stated. Residents of the county who need blood will have to locate donors with the specific type of blood needed, or a commercial blood bank will have to be established, which will result in a cost of between forty and fifty dollars per pint of blood used.

An intensive campaign is being waged to make the next Bloodmobile visit a success and keep the county in the program, with full-scale cooperation by churches and civic groups in the county, the Red Cross announced. The Rotary club is furnishing transportation in Harrisburg on Feb. 4, and a similar plan is being worked out for Eldorado on the 5th. Another facet of the Rotary program is a telephone campaign, with a phone committee on duty at the Methodist church in Harrisburg, calling prospective donors and dispatching cars to pick up donors and return them to their homes. This same program is also being worked out in Eldorado. In addition, students of the Harrisburg Junior high school are working for the community blood program through their Civic Educational Program, details of which were announced in yesterday's Register.

The final decision is up to the public, the Red Cross stated, and in order to facilitate that decision, a brief explanation of how the blood program benefits the county will be published next week in The Register. Citizens of Saline county will then have to decide whether it is important enough to them that the county remain in the program, or be dropped. A favorable decision will be indicated by meeting or beating the quota of 150 pints per day.

Illinois' 'Contour' Splash Guard Law for Trucks Held Illegal

Connelly, Caudle Ask Court to Reverse Conviction

WASHINGTON — Two Truman administration officials sentenced to jail for handling of a St. Louis tax case have asked the Supreme Court to reverse their conviction.

Separate appeals were filed Thursday by Matthew J. Connelly, former White House appointments secretary, and T. Lamar Caudle, former head of the Justice Department's tax division.

If the court decides to review the case, arguments will be heard sometime next term.

Connelly and Caudle were indicted on charges of conspiring to defraud the government in connection with an income tax fraud case against Irving Fuchs, a St. Louis shoe broker and Shu-Styles Inc., a corporation which Fuchs controlled.

Auto Workers Plan $55 Million Strike Chest

DETROIT — The United Auto Workers, with battle plans drawn for 1958 contract talks, today close their special convention with adoption of strike dues for a $55-million-dollar war chest.

The only point left undecided at the start of the final convention session was whether the UAW international would keep or rebate the strike dues assessment if there is no major 1958 strike.

President Walter P. Reuther and the union executive board had their way as expected in gaining adoption of the bargaining program Thursday. An estimated 90 per cent of the 3,218 voting delegates by a show of hands backed the proposed goals of profit sharing and wage-benefit gains.

With that major chore out of the way, Reuther and Michigan's Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams turned to platform mopping up operations against big business and the Republican Party.

The only salvo fired in return was by Ford Motor Co. Board Chairman Ernest R. Breech, speaking at Nashville, Tenn., said the UAW has "monopoly power," has caused inflation through unjust wage boosts and has now proposed a profit sharing plan "fanciful and full of fishhooks."

Reuther took the occasion of introducing Williams to expound on UAW political action.

"I have been asked many times. Is the American labor movement a tail to the Democratic Party kite? We answer emphatically 'no.' We have made our choices in the support of political candidates... based upon where the candidates and the parties stand on the fundamental issues as they are related to the basic needs of the people of this country," Reuther said.

Chinese Premier Rejects Appeal Of U.S. Mothers

Refuses to Free Sons Imprisoned on Espionage Charges

LONDON — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai today rejected the appeal of three American mothers for release of their sons imprisoned on charges of "espionage," Peiping Radio reported.

"Your sons have violated Chinese laws and must be dealt with accordingly," Chi Feng, assistant international director of the Chinese Red Cross, told the mothers.

The three mothers are:

Mrs. Ruth Redmond, Yonkers, N. Y. Her son Hugh, 38, is serving a life term in a Shanghai jail on Communist charges of "espionage." He worked for an export-import firm when arrested in 1954.

Mrs. Mary V. Downey, New Britain, Conn. Her son John Thomas Downey, 27, is serving a life imprisonment in Peiping on another spy charge.

Mrs. Philip G. Fecteau, Lynn, Mass. Her son Richard George Fecteau, 30, is serving a 20-year term in Peiping. Fecteau and Downey were civilian employees of the U. S. Army and disappeared in 1952 on a flight between Japan and Korea.

The mothers appealed personally to Chou to release the sons after the Communists invited the three American women to visit the men in China prisons.

Brucker Says Pentagon Blocked Army Launching of Satellite

WASHINGTON — Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker told Congress in testimony published today that the Army might have launched an earth satellite two years ago if the Pentagon had not blocked the project.

Brucker told the House Armed Services Committee the Army feels it could have put a satellite into orbit "during the year of 1956, or certainly the beginning of 1957" if it had been permitted to continue work on the project.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy reversed the 1955 order last Nov. 9 and told the Army to prepare to launch a satellite. Brucker said the Army now is ready to launch Jupiter C rockets for this purpose and the firing will be held "very soon."

The testimony came as the Navy went ahead with plans for its second attempt to fire a test vehicle at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in its Vanguard satellite project. The first effort failed when the missile blew up on its launching pad Dec. 6.

Brucker testified the Army designed its Jupiter C long-range missile in 1954 as a satellite launcher. However, the following

Ruling Issued By Circuit Judge Samuel O. Smith

Holds Exemptions

By '57 Legislature

Unconstitutional

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois 1957 law requiring "contour" splash guards on trucks today was held unconstitutional, but opposing attorneys said it was "still to be determined" if this meant a return to the original stricter law.

Circuit Judge Samuel O. Smith held the 1957 laws invalid on grounds that by exempting nine types of vehicles from its provisions it set up "arbitrary and unreasonable" classifications and did not apply equally to all.

But the original 1955 act applied to all trucks without any exemptions. The 1957 act was an amended version.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Richard Husted and Springfield attorney Alfred H. Greening who fought the case before Smith said his ruling might throw out only 1957 act, and the law would revert to the 1955 version.

They agreed the effect of the Smith ruling was "still to be determined."

A spokesman in the attorney general's office indicated the state would appeal Smith's ruling on the 1957 act.

Smith issued his opinion in a letter delivered Thursday night to Greening and Husted. Greening represents four trucking firms which challenged the law.

Smith directed Greening to draft an order embodying his opinion to be entered in Circuit Court. Greening also indicated he would ask an immediate injunction to halt enforcement of the law.

Seven out-of-state trucking firms also have an attack on the law pending in Federal Court here before a special three-judge panel. Powell Chief Sponsor

The law was first passed in 1955 and required that all trucks operating in Illinois be equipped with a special curved, or contour, type mud guard.

The law in that form was upheld by the State Supreme Court. Then the 1957 Legislature defeated a move to repeal the law but amended it to exempt farm trucks, concrete mixers and certain other types of vehicles. After the 1957 amendments, the law applied largely to big over-the-road trucks only.

Smith on Dec. 19, 1957 had ruled these exemptions were unconstitutional, but that the state could enforce the remainder of the law.

On Jan. 3, Greening and the state argued the intent of the law before Smith.

The truck companies had opposed the law on grounds the contour guards were expensive, difficult to obtain and hard to install and maintain.

Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna), was chief sponsor of the law both in 1955 and in its amended form in 1957.

Perennial Problem

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

As always, Congress will engage in bitter combat this year over programs involved in what the administration calls mutual security and what is generally called foreign aid.

Since the first days of the original Marshall plan for European recovery, there never has been a season without a fight on this issue.

In his budget message President Eisenhower this time requested $3,900,000,000 for foreign aid, as against $3,750,000,000 for the current fiscal year.

Congress in 1957 actually voted only $2,800,000,000 in appropriations for this purpose. Beyond doubt it will be swinging hard against the new requests.

About three billion dollars of the total now sought by the President would go for direct military aid to foreign countries or for what is labeled defense support — which means economic help directly connected with the build-up and maintenance of another nation's armed forces.

All other foreign aid, mostly economic, would come to 783 million dollars under the 1958-59 budget, as compared with 604 million this past year.

When Congress shoots at the military aid-defense support part of this program, it does so with the realization that as it diminishes the military strength of our friends and allies, it must somehow offset this loss by boosting the substance of our own defense establishment.

It does not have the same concern over economic aid, since over the years more and more lawmakers have become less and less convinced of its necessity.

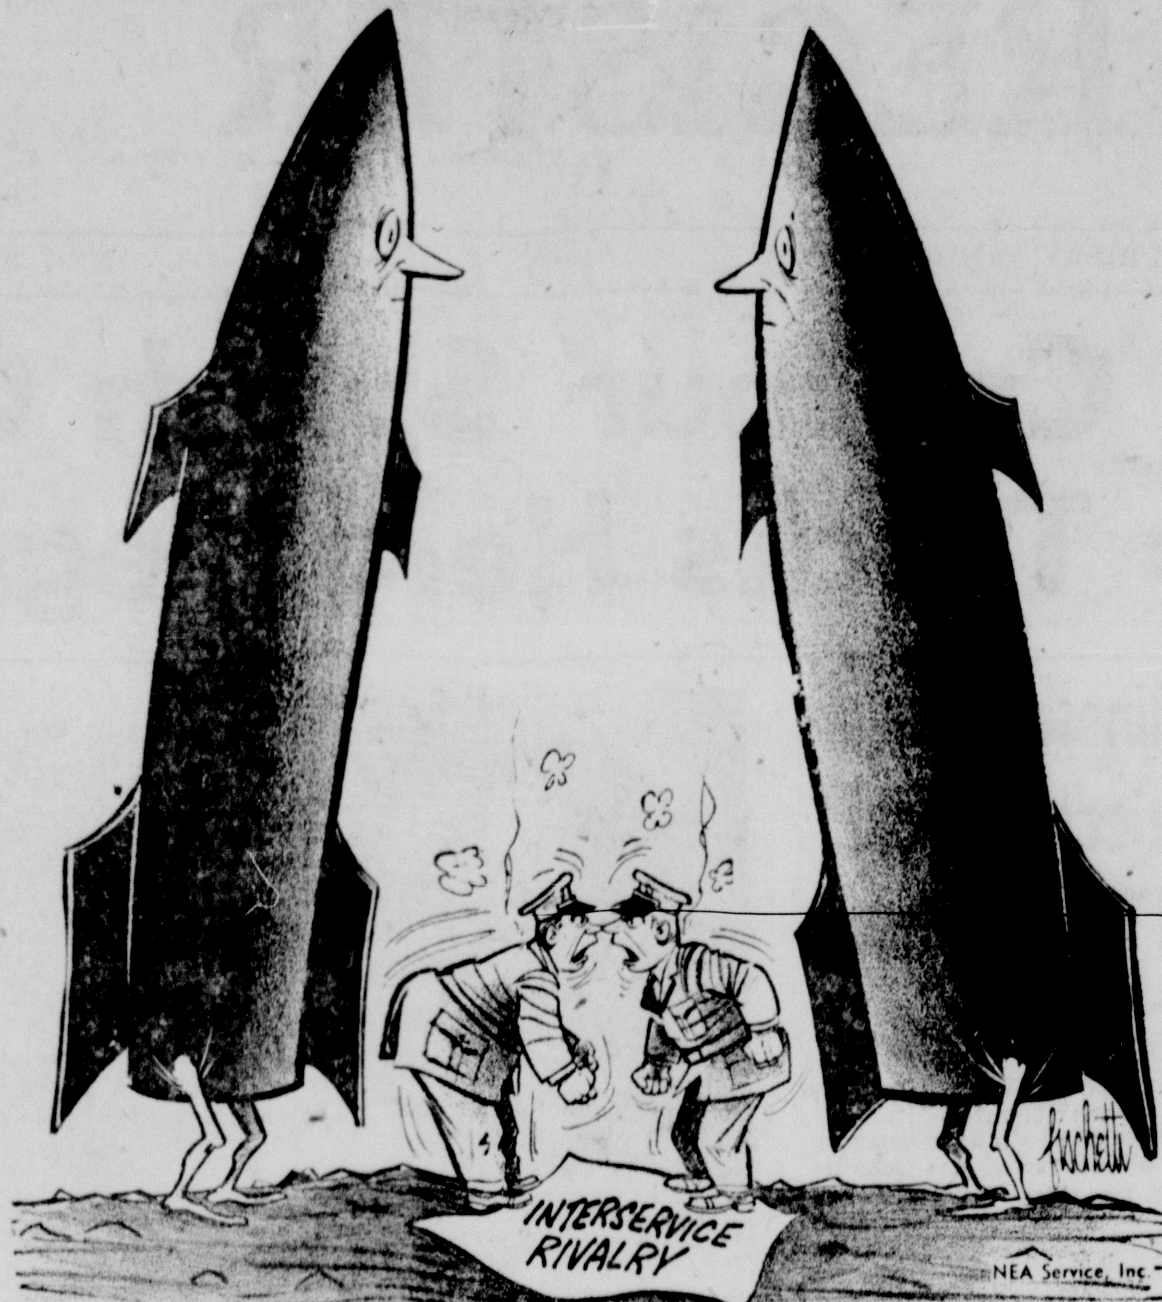

Yet today it must set its fading interest in this kind of aid against the insistence of Mr. Eisenhower and others that the United States should make a more determined effort to combat the Soviet Union on the economic and political battlegrounds of the world.

We have still to learn of course, how hard the President will press for military and economic assistance this year, and how successful he will be in persuading Congress.

But even if he should score heavily, we must all hope that Congress nevertheless would apply to the foreign aid program—as to all others now being energetically advanced as vital to our security against a hard-driving Russia — the test of real usefulness in all its details.

We cannot use the atmosphere

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Secret Memo On FCC Causes Storm In Moulder Committee; It Sets Standard Of Ethics For Bureaucrats; FCC Commissioners Accused Of Fraternizing.

WASHINGTON. — The secret memo which scared Speaker Sam Rayburn and investigating congressmen away from any penetrating probe of the Federal Communications Commission is actually a document which every public official should read.

It not only shows how FCC commissioners were getting travel expenses from the radio-TV industry, then charging those same expenses to the government, but it also reviews a code of ethics for government conduct.

When this memo first came up for debate behind closed doors in the Moulder committee, Congressman Heselton, Massachusetts Republican, rushed to the defense of the FCC. He said he was flatly opposed to calling the commissioners before the committee to explain their actions.

"We are not here to put the commissioners on trial," he said. The function of the committee, he claimed, is to review laws and administration.

"But administration depends on honesty and ethics," replied Congressman Peter Mack, Illinois Democrat. "You can have the best laws in the world, but if they are not properly and fairly enforced they are no good."

He urged that the commissioners be called before the committee and asked to explain their actions.

Congressmen Moss (Calif.) and of crisis to justify careless, unthinking expenditure. The waste of dollars helps neither us nor our friends, but only our enemies. At whatever level of outlay, only a tight foreign aid program can be a good one.

Moulder (Mo.), remembering the hue and cry raised by Republicans when Truman Democrats accepted hams and deep freezes, argued that the probe should proceed. The final vote, at a later meeting, was overwhelmingly against them.

THE SECRET MEMO

The secret memo which scared the congressmen away from proceeding with a probe for which the public had already put up—and spent—a quarter of a million dollars, has been suppressed. Nobody is supposed to see it. However, here are further pertinent portions. After reciting how commissioners had accepted free TV sets, free liquor, free meals, free hotels, and free travel from interested parties, the memo states:

"If any of the above-mentioned practices were engaged in by a federal judge, there would be grave doubts as to that judge's fitness to continue in office. For a judge to receive favors from a litigant before him would be for him grossly to violate the canons of judicial ethics. Similarly, for a litigant to confer favors upon a judge would be for him to indulge in a grave impropriety."

"Practices such as those already mentioned, engaged in by the members of a body like the Federal Communications Commission, strike at the very heart of the scheme of administrative regulation set up by the Congress. If those chosen to be the 'judges' of the communications industry are themselves lacking in the integrity and uprightness of the judge, the regulation itself must fail in its basic essentials. It is to be hoped that a public hearing on this matter will help to restore the proper ethical standard and regain for the administrative process the essential integrity which the Congress intended it to have."

"Members of the Federal Communications Commission have discussed cases pending before the agency with litigants. Such discussion was had ex parte off the public record and was carried on either through personal conversations or over the telephone. There are indications that such conversations, in at least some instances, referred to the merits of the pending cases.

"It is almost self-evident that ex parte relationships of this type between a quasi-judicial officer and a litigant are wholly improper. If engaged in by a judge, it would clearly violate Canon 17 of the canons of judicial ethics."

"It should be pointed out parenthetically that the existence of ex parte contacts between an administrative agency and those in the industry regulated by it bears a close relationship to the fraternization between the agency members and the industry, of the type already referred to. If the agency members have constant social and other relationships with members of the industry, it may be setting them an all but impossible standard to expect them to cease such contacts where pending matters are concerned. This is particularly true where the industry habitually confers gifts and favors upon the agency concerned."

FCC FRATERNIZATION

One typical case of fraternization which congressional probes had in mind was that of Commissioner Robert E. Lee and his chummy relationship with Thomas G. Tinsley, owner of radio stations WTH in Baltimore and WLEE in Richmond, who had applied for a TV channel in Petersburg, Va. Local people in Petersburg also applied.

But Tinsley had some unique political advantages. He had staged a large reception for Eisenhower in Baltimore in 1952, had helped organize Citizens for Eisenhower there, and wrote a letter to GOP workers instructing them to contact him regarding jobs under the Eisenhower administration. Finally, he was a friend of Commissioner Lee, also an Eisenhower appointee.

Congressional testimony showed that Lee and Sol Taishof, publisher of "Broadcasting" magazine, went to Baltimore to dine with Tinsley just as Tinsley's TV application was under consideration before the FCC.

Cadillac

World's Best Answer to a Detour!

Pretty rough road, you'd say? Well, you certainly wouldn't be aware of it if you were sitting where these happy travelers are.

For they're in a 1958 Cadillac—and here, beyond a doubt, is the world's best substitute for a new highway!

Just what is this special Cadillac magic that works such wonders on a rough roadway? Well, let's take a look and see what happens to a bump when it meets the wheels of a new 1958 Cadillac.

First of all, it is softened by those big, buoyant, full-sized Cadillac tires.

... then it is gently cushioned by those massive, perfectly balanced Cadillac coil springs.

... or, if the extra-cost option of air suspension is present, it is subdued by that miraculous cushion of air that cradles the entire frame.

... then it is diminished still further by Cadillac's new hydraulic shock absorbers and by its specially engineered system of rubber body mountings.

And, of course, should any suggestion of it still remain, it meets its final demise in those deep, luxurious, Fleetwood-crafted seat cushions ... and in the car's marvelous steadiness and balance.

All in all, it's the reason why a journey in a new Cadillac is the finest distance between any two points.

We invite you to try it for yourself—and to get the full facts about all of the beautiful Cadillacs, including the distinguished Eldorado Brougham.

THIS IS IT, SALINE COUNTY!

WE ARE ABOUT TO LOSE OUR RED CROSS BLOOD PROGRAM MEMBERSHIP!
Some Red Cross chapters have already been dropped from the St. Louis Regional Blood Program, and others have been given 60-day notice. We know that Saline County is now being reviewed and is due for a 60-day notice because we have only met about one-third of our quota of blood!

During the past twelve months, Saline County hospitals used 760 pints of blood from the St. Louis center. In addition, the total blood needs of 33 county residents have been furnished in hospitals outside the county by request through the local Red Cross chapter.

If the people of Saline County do not support the program by being blood donors in February, the program will be taken away from us, and we will be faced with only two alternatives: Either the families of patients will have to find donors of the specific blood type needed, or a commercial blood bank will have to be put in operation, which means patients will have to pay forty to fifty dollars per pint.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Harrisburg Elks Club on Tuesday, February 4th, and at the Methodist Educational Building in Eldorado on Wednesday, February 5th. Anyone between the ages of 18 and 59 is eligible. If you are called and asked to give blood, don't hesitate to respond. If no one calls you, go to one of the two places listed and volunteer. WE MUST NOT LOSE THIS IMPORTANT PROGRAM!

Simpson Family First to Settle In Johnson County in Year 1805

By H. L. Mottisinger

A yell from a Shawnee Redskin, a panther's scream, a wolf's weird howl, and other outcries that brought fear, and sent chills tingling about the vertebrae, were in reality back in 1805, down in Southern Illinois, 13 years prior to Illinois becoming a state.

The scene of our true story centers on a heavily timbered region in a spur of the Ozarks, with its valleys, creeks, brambles, briars, thorns, etc.

The setting of this narrative is a prospectus of the first squatter who is thought to have set his foot on the soil in this four hundred square mile area. Vienna, Marion, Metropolis, and many other towns, hamlets and bairnicks did not exist here or in any of the surrounding area at this ancient date.

William Simpson, great-grandfather of William L. Simpson, now living in Creal Springs, erected a primitive log cabin in the northern part of what is now Simpson township (some 7 miles southeast of Creal Springs, and 12 miles north of Vienna, in the present county of Johnson (Illinois) or two miles north of the present village of Simpson in which the township is named.

This sturdy pioneer was Johnson county's first settler. It was seven years after his coming in 1805 that Johnson county was organized, (1812). In 1812 the county was set off from Randolph, embracing eight counties.

In 1805, William Simpson, wife and five children floated down the Ohio river from Lexington, Ky., to Shawneetown, carrying their belongings on their raft. After many hours of this risky and slow mode of travel, they disembarked, and stopped temporarily at the little pioneer village.

They abandoned the raft, and with two horses and their belongings, their caravan got under way for the interior of the new region to the west.

For some ten miles out of Shawneetown their roadway toward the southwest was clear, then they were compelled to cut their way through the dense timbered region.

In about nine days this sturdy, determined family reached the Ft. Massac-Kaskaskia trail east of the present village of Simpson where they followed the old trail two miles northeast. The family called a halt, as they were very exhausted. There they made their decision that this would be their temporary abode, an opening in the dense forest. It is located at what is now known as the Double Bridges, a few feet from the I.C.R.R. tract (now abandoned) a half mile from Hogg Cliff (120 feet high) in the Ozark spur.

After rest from the tiresome journey, father Simpson and his three sons started slashing away at the forest. The foursome soon had a small area clear, and sufficient sizeable logs to erect a home. Within a few days thru long hours of toil, they had built a rude log cabin, the first to ever be constructed by a white man in the present limits of Johnson county.

The family had certainly witnessed their adventure, a perilous voyage to a far inland abode.

It is claimed no other white person was within 25 miles of the Simpson family. A very dangerous situation was to be faced as they were encircled from all directions with wolves, bears, panthers, wild cats, and Indians.

The little cabin in the forest was more than living quarters. It was a veritable arsenal as well.

The forest was full of wild game, and the larder was kept well supplied with meat.

The new ground was very fertile. Spring arrived, and corn, potatoes, and other vegetables were planted in which the small acreage produced abundantly.

Approximately a year went by and the family erected a double log house, a short distance from the first temporary cabin. This building was soon opened as a hotel, perhaps in 1810, and is no doubt one of the first hotels, sometimes called inns, in the ancient days ever operated in Illinois.

With the incoming of new settlers, Mr. Simpson chanced to be at cross roads from Golconda, Metropolis, and Elvira to Shawneetown, then points northeast. It was in line for a thriving patronage.

Mr. Simpson, a hard working man, and good manager, took advantage of the expansive outdoors for range so he began to raise great numbers of cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep, therefore becoming the forerunner of stockmen in the new country.

Louisville and Detroit were the nearest markets at that time for live stock. The pioneer stockman would drive his cattle to Detroit some 600 miles distance. It would require at least five weeks to make the round trip. On one occasion he was captured by the Indians, and after a long escape as prisoner managed to escape. His wife and children had about given up hopes of ever seeing him coming back home, but three years later he returned unharmed, and the family were so overjoyed they put on a big celebration.

The family tree from this old settler of 1805 has spread and today the Simpsons are among the top in the family lineage in the State of Illinois.

Simpsons in Johnson County today are numbered by the scores through marriage and blood relation.

This public spirited family all down through one and a half centuries have been called to fill various offices of trust, for instance today:

Jesse L. Simpson, Edwardsville, Ill., is a commissioner on the staff of the Illinois Commerce Commission. Sid Simpson, Carrollton, Ill., is serving his 14th term or 27th year as chairman of Green County Republican committee, and was elected from the 78th to the 84th Congress successively, 20th District of Illinois.

Joshua Simpson, (deceased) son of Pioneer Simpson, was a noted dealer in tombstones, and tanning hides, so is W. L. Simpson Jr., Eldorado, present dealer in tombstones. He is the son of W. L. Simpson, Creal Springs, and great-grandson of the pioneer.

William Simpson passed away in 1824 at his log cabin hotel, and was among the first to be laid to rest in the Simpson burying ground, just a few rods from his residence. It is called the Double Bridges cemetery. Some call it the Old Field graveyard.

Pioneer Simpson also operated a tannery (tanyard) 1-2 mile east of the hotel. His son, Joshua, chiefly operated the tannery due to his father's required assistance at the hotel. Raw hide shoe strings and hides to make shoes originated at the tannery for this locality, and Uncle Joe Grubbs at a later date made much profit from shoes which he made.

Uncle Bill (W. L.) Simpson, grandson of the pioneer, returned recently from a visit with his sister in Little Rock, Ark. He will celebrate his 90th birthday, Wednesday, Jan. 29th. He possesses a nickel made in the year he was born, 1868. He is a retired carpenter.

The 1957 World's Conservation Exposition and Plowing Contests will be held in Adams County, Ohio, Sept. 17-20.

AT THE GRAND—Anne Bancroft cuddles up to Lex Barker in a romantic scene from "The Girl in Black Stockings," to show at the Grand theatre Friday and Saturday. Also on the double feature program will be "The Badge of Marshal Brennan," with Jim Davis and Arleen Whelan.

AT THE ORPHEUM—Cary Grant, Suzy Parker and Luscious Jayne Mansfield star in "Kiss Them For Me," CinemaScope and color, to show at the Orpheum Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

To Conduct Series of Evangelistic Services at Methodist Church

A series of "Laymen's Victorious Life Mission" evangelistic services will be conducted in the Carrier Mills Methodist church Jan. 26 through Feb. 9, every evening except Mondays at 7:30. This Mission will be directed by Layman Evangelist Rex J. Moon of Greenville, Ill., and seven well-organized committees of laymen under the supervision of the minister, Rev. Carl S. Davis.

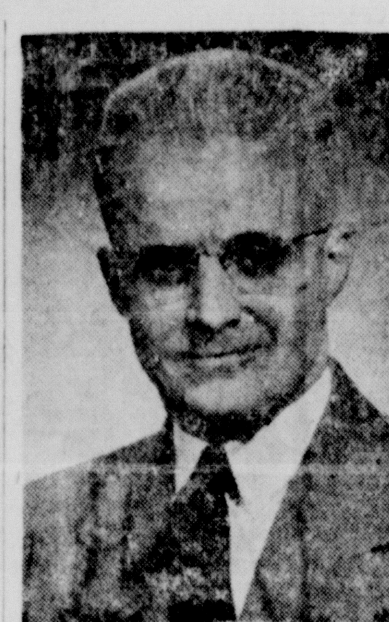

Evangelist Rex Moon is a Methodist minister's son. He has had more than 25 years' evangelistic experience in 35 states and in Canada. He is a "certified Methodist lay speaker," and so, speaks from the laymen's standpoint. He has twice been elected to the Methodist General Conference, the highest legislative body of the church.

Mr. Moon's "first love" is youth of high school and college age. For over 20 years he has been invited into high schools and colleges for personal counseling, to help youth find the truthful answers to their most perplexing life problems.

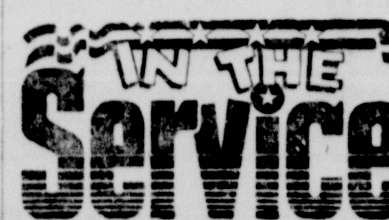

Rex Moon depends as much on Song Sermons presented by an unusually large chorus choir, as he does on his challenging spoken messages, for the unusual success he witnesses. A special Music committee, directed by Harry Tanner, is enrolling a chorus choir of 40 or more voices, to present these so effective Song Sermons that will "highlight" every Mission service with a "feast of song."

Mr. Moon has written many hymns, songs and choruses of high Scriptural content, some of which will be used in this Mission. The newly enrolled Mission choir will rehearse with Mr. Moon Saturday night, Jan. 25, at 7:30 at the Carrier Mills Methodist church, and again on Sunday afternoon, the 26th, at 2:30. This will be "A Singing Mission."

The first messages Mr. Moon will present will be in the morning and evening worship services of Sunday, Jan. 26. All are invited to bring friends and attend.

High School Classes Raise Money For Polio Campaign

This past week has been a busy week of raising money for the polio campaign for the classes of the Carrier Mills high school. Plus bake sales and door-to-door campaigns, they have each had special projects in which to add to their funds.

The sophomore class had a carnival in the gymnasium Monday night. They had a bingo stand, basketball, fortune teller, fun house, weight guessing stand, and a "night club," featuring the Four Drops and a Drop.

Tuesday night, the junior class held an unusual basketball game with the teachers and men of the town opposing the junior class boys. The boys acted as cheerleaders and the girls served as managers.

Thursday night, the freshman class held a box supper for the public, plus bake sales and selling candy and cookies at noon.

The senior class held dances with refreshments each day this week at noon in the gymnasium.

The money each class earns will be used to help its candidate serve as queen candidate at the Saline County Tournament.

CENTENARIAN'S FIVE GENERATIONS AT BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Five generations of the White family were present Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Farmer White, Rt. 4, Marion, where Mr. White's father, Uncle Jimmie White, celebrated his 100th birthday.

Representing the five generations were Thurmon White, a son; George T. White, Rt. 4, Marion, a grandson; Betty Vaughn, St. Louis, a great-granddaughter, and Steve Vaughn, St. Louis, a great-grandson.

Several friends and relatives gathered at the Farmer White home and honored Uncle Jimmie with a sumptuous dinner followed by a shower of gifts consisting of two of Uncle Jimmie's special likings, tobacco and candy.

Some attending the noon day dinner in honor of the centenarian's birthday were:

Grandsons, Walter White and his son, Gary, James White and son, Herbert; Harold White and son, Raymond, also granddaughters, Mrs. James Clarida and children, Linda and James, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Edwards and two weeks' old son, Keith, a great-grandson of Uncle Jimmie.

It was indeed a happy event in the life of Uncle Jimmie who can still say: "Don't be a lazy loafer, they ain't worth much you know."

LIONS WIN TWO BASKETBALL GAMES

The Creal Springs grade school Lions won two basketball games Thursday night from Colp. The games were played at Creal Springs.

Creal won the varsity game, 39-25, with the following getting in the scoring column: B. Lindsey 19, R. Lindsey 3, Smith 7, Lowery 10, McCuan and Frew played but didn't score.

In the preliminary game Creal won 40-16, with all Colp points scored by Sibels. Scoring for the winners were Upchurch 11, Trevelstead 5, Beasley 12, Adams 4, Lowery 4 and Malcom 4.

The Lions play their final conference game of the season at Pittsburg Jan. 30 and will participate in the district tournament, to be held Feb. 3-7.

Only Slightly Off
A knotted string was used as a measuring instrument in the building of the Great Pyramid of Egypt, yet it measured so accurately that modern instruments show only one-half inch error along the 755-foot side.

About 650 of the passenger trains operated by railroads of the United States are known by name.

Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break but all in vain;
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.

Suspend License Of Marion Tavern

MARION, Ill. 12—Marion Mayor and Liquor Commissioner Robert Cooksey today suspended the local liquor license of a Marion tavern for 10 days in a stabbing case.

A youth was stabbed in a fight outside the North Market Street Tavern on Jan. 15. The operator of the tavern is Mrs. Loraine Jackson. Her husband, Lowell, told Cooksey that his wife plans to sell the business which was padlocked last Friday on Cooksey's orders.

Ila Fay Tippy, a tavern barmaid, pleaded not guilty Wednesday in County Court to charges of selling liquor to minors the night of the stabbing. She asked for a jury trial.

Hog Farmers Invited To Meeting Feb. 6

Did you get our card, inviting you to our big hog meeting to be held in Godard's Market with the Purina Checkerboard front on Thursday, February 6. We want the farmers who raise hogs to be our guests and guess what we are going to have for them to eat—ham and beans! The meeting will begin with supper at 6 p. m. and we need to know if YOU are coming Mr. Farmer.

What's the meeting about—HOGS, naturally, and the whole hog business, particularly marketing and making a profit from hogs.

Salute to Future Farmers

We salute the Future Farmers and extend special congratulations to Ralph Goss, soil conservation essay winner, also to the runners up: Lowell Keel and Leonard Smith, Carrier Mills, Jerry Woolard and Judith Forester, Eldorado, Ralph Gann and Don Owen, Galatia and Larry Taylor and Charles Wright, Harrisburg.

Guard Against Spring Egg Slump

You can guard against a slump in egg production with Purina Boost-R-Aid. Don't wait until your hens get "under the weather." Powerful Purina Boost-R-Aid added to their drinking water provides important vitamins and antibiotics that combat disease and help ward off stress periods. Pick up Boost-R-Aid next time you come to town.

WE POINT WITH PRIDE

We point with pride to the outstanding records of two of our many poultry flock owners who feed Purina Chow regularly. Mrs. Herman Temple has 70 White Rock hens and during 31 days in December she gathered 1,764 eggs. That was 57 eggs per day and there were some really cold days in December. She says her Purina Laying Chow helped to keep up production.

Mrs. Lowell Joiner, Herod, has a flock of White Leghorns and her 220 hens are fed on Purina Chow. They produced 170 eggs per day during the past month. She sells hatching eggs to Carter's hatchery and these are premium priced eggs.

Pot Caladium Bulbs Now

Leota says now is the time to pot caladium bulbs, if you want your "elephant ears" to get really elephantine in record time.

GROVER ABNEY PROFITS FROM PIGS

My dad, Grover Abney, is just bursting to "burst into print" in the Checkerboard News. From one gilt he sold $225.00 worth of pigs in 11 months of feeding Purina Sow Chow. Guess he wouldn't dare buy any other, especially after that haul.

Well, G. L. invites you to make a date to weigh your pigs, and offers to come back and weigh them again for you free of charge 30 days after they go on Purina Chow. Would also like to remind you to ask for Eagle Stamps and to place your order now for field seed and baby chicks.

THE STORY: Ward Sebastian, a rancher, has the sad duty to tell Kitty Dutra that her husband has been slain by Modoc Indians. He takes Kitty to his ranch where she is cared for by Mrs. Bob Gayle, wife of one of his hands.

III

Ward Sebastian watched the trail lead from the dripping junipers and mahoganies of the higher ground down the twisting run of a gulch which presently met the open of a long sagebrush flat curving past the north shoulder of Sheet Iron Butte. Here the gulch discharged a shallow spread of storm water, and when Sebastian's mount went through it with joggling hoofs, a thin boil of muddy foam beat up.

A high, slightly forward leaning figure in the saddle, lean cheeks whipped to near numbness by the ceaseless pelt of the rain, Sebastian stoically had endured the misery and monotony of these long, storm-beaten miles.

The military was gathering and massing weight along the west shore of Tule Lake, with all signs pointing to the fact that the Modocs were forting up in the wild lavas south of the lake, defying the white man to drive them out.

This stand was not the defiant, impulsive decision of a moment. Rather, there was an inevitability about it, the sure culmination of years of worsening conditions.

It was in large part the same old and shameful story of lies and deceit, of peace talks so insincere they could never bring true peace of promises glibly made and callously broken, of political chicanery and cowardice, of greed and duplicity and cruelty and savagery. Now the final bitter tragedy of a people fighting hopelessly while being driven inexorably into the twilight of their existence.

Prodged by the somberness of these thoughts, Ward Sebastian twisted and swung in his saddle. The move saved his life, for instead of smashing into his chest, the bullet was a slicing knife of fire across his left arm, halfway between shoulder and elbow.

Then, with equal swiftness came reaction, and Sebastian spun his horse in a short swing to the right and back, putting some of the leading pack animals between him and the source of the shot. This, as nearly as he could judge, was a ragged scatter of lava boulders piled at the base of the butte. A faint drift of powder smoke showed.

Report and powder smoke spouted from the boulders again. Lead told on flesh with a wicked thud and the mule directly in front of him grunted, humped, made a floundering jump or two, then went down.

Sebastian had no idea who it was skulking out there but of one thing he was certain: so long as they were sheltered and he in the open, the end was sure and certain and in no way to his benefit.

He freed his rifle with a final jerk, spurred clear of the pack mules and drove straight for the boulder pile, swinging rifle to shoulder as he went, knowing a swift gust of thankfulness when he found his left arm answering to his will. It was numb and weighted and shaky, but it was useful. No bone was broken.

He glimpsed a flicker of movement and threw a quick shot, hoping only to unsettle and confuse, rather than with any real expectation of hitting. In this gamble he found some success, for an answering shot flew high and wild. Then it was Sam Lester, spurring up from the drag with an enraged yell and throwing a slug which bounced off a boulder in wailing ricochet. Swiftly, Sam shot again.

A crouched figure ducked clear of the lava tangle, racing up and around the shoulder of the butte Sebastian tried a shot, but missed widely. Then, realizing the extreme chances of getting a hit from the saddle of a speeding horse, he hauled to a stop and levered home another cartridge.

Any attempt to put a horse at speed across the talus slide between the boulder pile and the shoulder of Sheet Iron Butte, was to surely invite a broken leg for the horse and a broken neck for the rider. So Sebastian spurred the longer way around the outer edge of the clutter, and it was here that Sam Lester caught up with him.

Sebastian pointed with the barrel of his rifle. Even as he did so, a rider, flattened far along the neck of his speeding horse, flashed through the gap between the butte and rim of higher country beyond and gained sure sanctuary there.

"No use," said Sebastian. "We couldn't come up with him."

Down along the flat where several massive boulders of black lava broke the slanting drive of the rain, Sebastian dismounted and peeled off his coat. Sam Lester knotted a bandanna tightly into place over sleeve and all.

"Not a very fancy job," Sam said as he helped Sebastian into his coat again. "You got any ideas of who?"

Sebastian shook his head. "I'd be guessing. But I marked him. I'll be looking for somebody with a limp."

They rode back to the mule that had gone down. It was still alive, but there was no hope for it. Sam Lester leveled his rifle and the report thumped suddenly. Climbing back into his saddle, he made growling comment.

"In case there's another skulker around with a loose trigger finger, it's my turn to qualify as target. I'm pointing the string from here on in."

Murder Trial of Mother, Daughter Set for May 5

CARMI, Ill. 12—The murder trial of a Cave-in-Rock woman and her daughter has been scheduled for May 5 in White County Circuit Court here.

The defendants, Mrs. June Davis and her daughter, Betty, 18, are charged in the death of Betty Jean Joiner, 19, Hartford, Conn., on July 1, 1955.

Indictments against the Davises charge that they struck Miss Joiner with an unknown instrument after stopping a car in which she was riding with Glenn McDowell, Cave-in-Rock. Miss Joiner broke away after a scuffle and was hit by another car after collapsing on the highway.

The case was originally set for Hardin County but a mistrial was declared when attempts to secure a jury failed.

Judge Roy Guley of Benton will preside at the White County trial.

Court Upholds Death Sentence Of Girl Slayer

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Supreme Court today upheld the murder conviction and death sentence of Lloyd Miller Jr., Canton, and set his execution for April 11.

The 30-year-old taxicab driver was convicted in Hancock County Circuit Court and sentenced to death for the rape-murder of 8-year-old Janice May, also of Canton.

The child's body was found Nov. 26, 1955, beneath an old mine car in a deserted railroad yard near her home at Canton, her head crushed with a masonry block. She had been sexually attacked.

The case was transferred to Hancock county after defense attorneys asked for a change of venue, charging Miller would be unable to obtain a fair trial in Fulton county, in which Canton is located. Circuit Judge William Barden imposed sentence after a jury found Miller guilty.

Strike by NYC Conductors Ended by Court

UTICA, N. Y. — Rail traffic was resumed on the New York Central Railroad main line between Buffalo and New York City today after a seven-hour "wildcat" strike by conductors.

Trains began moving at 10 a. m. e.s.t. in Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and here shortly after a federal injunction was served on the strikers.

In Albany, where the injunction had not yet been served, 11 trains remained halted in the station, including the crack New York-bound Commodore Vanderbilt and 20th Century Limited, and pickets were still patrolling the station.

Judge Stephen W. Brennan issued a temporary injunction against the striking conductors pending a hearing Jan. 31 on a permanent order.

Former Golconda Resident Dies

Ivy Lingle, 62, former resident of Golconda, died in his home at Pritchard, Ala., where he had lived for the past 2 years, late Monday. The body will be returned to the Buchanan funeral home in Golconda for funeral services at 2 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in the New Liberty church cemetery south of Eddyville. He is survived by his wife Wilda, his sons James Franklin Lingle of the U. S. Air Force and Leo Daniel Lingle, U. S. Marines and his daughter, Mrs. Barbara Ann Weeks of Safety Harbor, Fla.

Opposes State Purchase of Bonds For Exposition Hall

CHICAGO — An opponent of plans to build an exposition hall at 23rd Street has filed a petition asking that state officials be prevented from buying 25 million dollars in bonds to finance the projects.

Kellogg Fairbanks, a real estate broker, Thursday asked for a hearing at which he would try to gain permission to file the suit.

Fairbank said Gov. Stratton and State Treasurer William J. Hoffman, both of whom are named as defendants, plan to buy revenue bonds with state funds when bidding closes.

Putting tax money in what he calls a poor investment is illegal, Fairbank said. Fairbank also questioned the legality of using "offshore lands" belonging to the state, and safety factors stemming from the nearness of the site to Meigs Field.

Summerfield Urges Passage Of Postal Hikes

WASHINGTON — Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield told Congress today that refusal to raise out-of-town letter postage to 5 cents would be "unthinkable."

He said increased postal rates, including the new 5-cent stamp, is one of the most "urgent" items in the administration's budget message to Congress.

Failure to act, he said, could force another increase in the national debt.

Several congressmen have said they would fight the nickel stamp proposal.

Summerfield appealed for support of the administration's postal rate plans in testimony before the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee. He sought a 5-cent charge on out-of-town letters, 4 cents on local letters and other rate increases.

He spelled out the warning President Eisenhower outlined in his budget message last week—that the post office will run nearly 700 million dollars in the red next fiscal year unless the postage increases are approved. And even with these increases there will be a deficit if pending wage raises for postal workers are granted, the administration says.

Summerfield said the 5-cent rate is "completely justified" on the basis of current costs alone, and it would be "even more necessary" if Congress approves postal workers' pay increases.

Child Suffocates In Refrigerator

CHICAGO — A 2-year-old girl died of suffocation early today when she and her older sister accidentally locked themselves in a refrigerator.

Helen Heynes, 4, said she and her sister, Juanita, clambered out of bed Thursday night while their mother was sleeping and climbed into the refrigerator to get some chicken.

When they were inside, Helen said, she pulled the door shut by grabbing an egg-tray on the inside wall of the refrigerator.

The girls' mother, Mrs. Helen Heynes, said she noticed the girls were missing shortly after midnight when a friend woke her up for a social call.

After a frantic search through the house, Mrs. Heynes roamed the neighborhood for a half-hour, looking for her children.

Returning, she heard her two babies crying for their early morning feeding and opened the refrigerator to get some milk.

Helen tumbled from the refrigerator to the floor.

An inhalator squad gave the two little girls oxygen, then took them to Mercy Hospital. Authorities were unable to revive Juanita.

Disclose White House TV Sets Loaned by NBC

WASHINGTON — The White House said today that President Eisenhower has two color TV sets on loan from the National Broadcasting Co.

It said four other sets—including one in the President's office—are on loan from the broadcasting industry to various members of the official White House family whose duty it is to "follow the news."

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty took the position there is nothing wrong in this. His remarks were in reply to question prompted by the fact that House investigators are looking into charges that members of the Federal Communications Commission accepted gifts and favors from broadcasters.

The FCC regulates the broadcasting industry and grants licenses for TV stations. The President has nothing to do with these matters, other than to appoint members of the commission.

The charges about the FCC were made in a memorandum prepared by the staff of a House Commerce subcommittee. Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) of the full committee said there would be "complete investigation" of the charges.

Hagerty said provision of TV sets for the White House had been customary since the advent of television.

"It is the same as the United Press and the Associated Press lending their city news services,"

Carpentier Admits Bill Paid Twice, Error Corrected

SPRINGFIELD — Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier admitted Thursday his office paid twice a $25,000 bill for auto license plates but said his own employees caught and corrected the error.

Carpentier replied in a statement to a story in the Chicago Daily News which reported on an audit made of his office by a Chicago accounting firm.

Carpentier said Hemp & Co., Macomb, had mistakenly billed his office twice for a series of license plates and two of his employees mistakenly paid the bill twice.

But he said another of his employees caught the error within a week and took steps to correct it and regain the money.

Carpentier also said a reference in the news story to an $18,000 "shortage" in an appropriation for administration of the use tax act was "absolutely untrue." He said the apparent $18,000 difference in the account resulted from the fact that the money was not spent in the period covered by the audit.

Heavy Rains in Gulf Coast Areas

By United Press
Heavy rains drummed the Gulf Coast early today, sending streams brimming over their banks and flooding streets in Corpus Christi, Tex.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said the heavy rains in the nation's southeastern half were associated with a storm that headed for the central Gulf of Mexico after spawning a snow storm in the Texas Big Bend country.

Corpus Christi received more than 2 1/2 inches of rain in a 24-hour period, sending water through some streets and the outlying areas. The storm center rapped out a steady tattoo from Texas to Florida. Pensacola, Fla. received nearly an inch Thursday night.

Effects of the storm center were felt in the lower Mississippi Valley and extended to Florida's east coast. Almost 1 1/2 inches of rain doused Vero Beach, Fla.

Another rain belt covered the area from central California to the Pacific Northwest and inland to parts of the Plateau region. Almost an inch of rain soaked San Francisco, while somewhat lesser amounts fell in Washington.

Snow flurries and light snow occurred at scattered points in the northern and central Rockies and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Hagerty said.

The United Press and the Associated Press have provided teletype news service for the White House for some years without pay except for the cost of paper used in the machines.

5¢ worth of electricity heats the water for your bath*

The convenience of a hot bath anytime you want it is certainly worth a nickel... about the price of one razor blade or three or four cigarettes. The cost of electricity to heat water for all your household tasks is still measured in pennies.

To make sure you have plenty of hot water, see that your heater is big enough.

The automatic washer and dishwasher... along with additions to most families... have multiplied the demand for hot water. As a result, many water heaters, installed for yesterday's needs, just can't heat water fast enough for modern living. See your nearest electrical appliance dealer about the proper size hot water heater for you.

Junior High Fives Split Two Games At Eldorado

Harrisburg Junior high split two basketball games at Eldorado Thursday night, winning the seventh grade game 34-27 and dropping the eighth grade contest 59-48.

A big first quarter gave Eldorado the eighth grade game. The home club got away to a 17-5 lead and although outscored 43-42 in the last three frames Eldorado won 59-48.

Eldorado also led after one quarter in the seventh grade game 9-6, but Harrisburg was on top 15-13 at the half and extended the advantage to 31-18 at the three quarter mark.

Only three games remain on the Harrisburg schedule before tournament time — Herrin is here Jan. 28, Harrisburg goes to Benton Jan. 30 and West Frankfort plays here Feb. 4.

The regional tourney will be held at Carrier Mills the week of Feb. 10-14.

Hassett Receives Scholarship Offer By Georgia School

Ray Hassett, senior member of the Harrisburg Bull Dogs basketball team yesterday received a scholarship offer in writing from Georgia Teachers College at Collegeboro, Ga.

The scholarship, for four years, covers cost of room, board, tuition, all fees and books and was made by John B. Searce Jr., athletic director.

It was made after a scout from Georgia Teachers, J. I. Clements, watched Coach John Dotson's boys in action against Marion and Herrin last week. The offer to Hassett came promptly after Clements had arrived home.

Another one of Dotson's boys, Wayne Stone, last year accepted a scholarship to Ausin Peay college at Clarksville, Tenn., and is doing well there this year. He is a member of the freshman basketball team.

Midget Conference Tourney Jan. 28-30

The Midget conference tournament will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 28-30, instead of the first week of February as announced earlier this week, so as not to conflict with the district grade school tournament.

The Midget loop affair will be held in the Galatia high school gym.

Members of the conference are Dorrisville, Galatia, Raleigh, Muddy, Ridgway and Broughton.

Frank Lane, Sager for Big Deal, Still Seeks Martin, Kuenn from Tigers

By United Press

Tireless Frank Lane, eager to make "a big deal, not just a 25-cent one," said today he will renew his efforts to get either Billy Martin or Harvey Kuenn from the Detroit Tigers this weekend.

"I'm ready to make Detroit a mighty good offer for Martin or Kuenn," said Cleveland's colorful general manager, who is in New York for Saturday's major league meeting, "and I plan to talk to Johnny McHale (general manager of the Tigers) about such a deal this weekend."

The Detroit Free-Press reported that Lane also has his eye on second baseman Frank Bolling of the Tigers and would be willing to give up Vic Wertz, Chico Carras-quel and Jim Hegan to obtain him.

But McHale, in Detroit, said he wouldn't go for such a deal.

"As for Kuenn, the only way we'd part with him is if we could get a player who could almost guarantee us the pennant."

News from the other baseball fronts was on the quieter side.

Outfielder Del Ennis signed his 1958 contract with the St. Louis Cardinals after receiving a slight increase that brought his salary around $35,000.

Ennis' signing left only six Cardinals who have not yet agreed to terms. Stan Musial, Alvin Dark and Wally Moon are among those still unsigned.

The San Francisco Giants announced the signing of Dusty Rhodes, Ossie Virgil and rookie pitcher Joe Shipley.

Pitchers Connie Johnson, Art Houtteman and John Fisher all signed with Baltimore, making a total of 12 who have okayed contracts with the Orioles for the coming campaign.

Second baseman Milt Graff and pitcher Dave Newkirk came to terms with the Kansas City Athletics, giving the A's a total of eight signees.

And third baseman Willie Jones accepted a Phillies' contract that called for a cut from his 1957 paycheck. Jones, who batted .277 in 1956, slumped to .218 last season.

Jimmie Foxx Named Coach of Red Sox Farm Club

BOSTON — Jimmie Foxx, one of baseball's greatest hitters was back in the sport he loved today, his financial future apparently assured.

The famed "Double-X" who played every position but second base during a slugging 20-year career in the majors, was named a coach of the Boston Red Sox' top farm club, the triple-A Minneapolis Millers of the American Assn.

In addition, Foxx revealed he was considering collaborating on a book about his diamond career, that negotiations were underway for a television film of his life and a speaking tour.

Foxx, who earned $270,000 as a slugger, was reported jobless and nearly broke just a week ago. He came to Boston from his Florida home to be a guest at the Boston baseball writers' dinner. As his financial plight became known, some 250 job offers poured in.

But the 50-year-old Foxx had eyes for only a baseball berth and agreed to the Red Sox farm post even before checking some of the letters, telegrams and phone calls from 23 states.

Mason Paces 92-83 Bradley Win Over Wichita

PEORIA, Ill. — The Bradley Braves, with Bobby Joe Mason tallying 26 points, defeated Wichita, 92-83, Thursday night to climb into a tie for the lead in the Missouri Valley Conference cage race.

The Braves broke a 19-all deadlock midway in the first half and were never again headed in hand-ling Wichita its first league loss of the season. Bradley led 47-37 at the half.

The win was Bradley's seventh in eight league outings.

The Braves' Barney Cable chipped in 20 points, while Wichita was paced by Don Woodworth and Joe Stevens with 17 points each.

County Tourney Cage Play Will Begin Tonight

Drawings Will Be At 6 p. m.; Polio Queen to Be Crowned

The Saline County Basketball tournament starts at seven o'clock tonight and who will play whom, nobody knows—yet.

With Harrisburg, Eldorado, Galatia and Carrier Mills participating, a drawing will be held at 6 p. m. to determine which teams will face each other in the four games tonight.

Finals and contest for third place will be held tomorrow night. This tournament has proved popular during the four years of its existence. Relations have been good during the meet and it has provided all four schools with money to bolster sagging athletic operation funds.

A part of tonight's program will be the crowning of Miss Polio Queen of 1958. All schools are collecting polio funds and the school with the most collected based on school enrollment will have its queen candidate crowned queen. No announcement has yet been made as to the identity of the four queen candidates.

Harrisburg Coach John Dotson revealed yesterday that Ron Maynard, his 5-2 1/2 center, will be suited for the tournament. Maynard suffered a broken finger a week ago in the Marion game and did not suit for the Herrin contest. Dotson said Maynard is not expected to start but probably will be used, although it will be about three weeks before the cast can be removed.

Dotson also revealed that Donald Biggs, ineligible the first semester, joined the squad this week. The Bull Dogs now have a Donald Beggs and a Donald Biggs on their roster.

Meeting at Eldorado Monday to Decide on Centennial Celebration

A meeting will be held at the Eldorado city hall Monday night to consider whether a Centennial celebration will be held in Eldorado this year, the 100th anniversary of the founding of the town.

Announcement of this meeting was made at the annual Eldorado Chamber of Commerce membership meeting held at the Eldorado high school Tuesday night.

At this meeting the Chamber of Commerce made an inventory of past achievements and failures and sought a constructive program for the future.

Guests were present from the Kaiser Aluminum Co., and the main speaker was George Pendell, executive director of the Mattoon Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Pendell was asked to outline to the people present his recommendations for attracting business to Eldorado. First he advised them to know Eldorado and to remember that every town has three groups, those who are parasites and live off the community doing nothing for it, those who live in the community and do nothing for it, and those who live for the community recognizing the need for cooperation between political, social, economical and industrial groups.

To attract industry he recommended that citizens study to know Eldorado. He pointed out that the filling station operators and the beauty shops are signposts to the newcomer. What they learn there about Eldorado and its citizenry influences what they think about it. The intelligent or smart-aleck or vague answers given to possible new residents or business heads, help or hinder efforts to attract them.

He said it was important to know the pulse of the people, know what they are capable of doing and willing to do.

Third he said, "dress up your sales organization, which in most places is a chamber of commerce with a paid executive secretary, capable of going to industrial centers to discuss with prospects what Eldorado has to offer. He said that an industrial engineer is not impressed favorably by a dingy, hidden away rent free nook of an office by someone trying to "sell" a town.

Fourth he advised that Eldorado budget their money to advertise effectively what Eldorado has to offer and to get this information in the newspapers, magazines and brochures which would be read by prospects.

Following his remarks a buzz session was held at which every one present was invited to express opinion as to what can be done.

Presiding were B. E. Skelton and Bruce Burnett.

They presented Chamber of Commerce officers newly elected and held over as follows: President, Bruce Burnett; vice president, Herb Reynolds; secretary, Atty. Jack Morris; treasurer, Gene Gidcomb, and executive secretary, Frank Zoltan.

The newly elected directors, Gene Choisser, Robert Wettaw, Omar Hobbs, Mart Watson and Jack Morris, were given recognition along with the other ten members of the board. Paul Green, Bruce Burnett, Warren Meyer, Herb Reynolds, Pat Collins, Ernie Tate, Homer Caraway, Gene Gidcomb, Bob Holman and Downey Wasson.

Others who were introduced included Dr. James A. Barker, president of the Lions Club; Miss Ruth Hamilton, president of the Woman's Club; Dr. Wm. F. Johnson, vice president of the Rotary Club, and Mr. and Mrs. James Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Neshiem and Dr. Robert W. Dryer of the Kaiser Aluminum company. Five former presidents of the local C. of C. were present and they were also recognized.

More Industrial Centers Added to Surplus Labor Areas

WASHINGTON — Nearly one third of the nation's major industrial centers today were listed as areas of "substantial" unemployment. They are eligible for special consideration now in the award of government contracts.

Such "surplus labor" labels are given to areas with more than 6 per cent of their work force idle. They now apply to 45 of the 149 major areas covered by a new Labor Department survey.

Among 21 areas added to the list in the past two months were Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Newark, N. J., Louisville, Ky., Kansas City, Mo., and Portland, Ore.

The Labor Department said there was a slim chance that rising unemployment might taper off slightly by mid-March. It said many employers indicated they would hire a few more workers but that "uncertainty" was widespread.

Overall unemployment now stands at nearly four million and some labor experts predict the total will reach five million or more before the current business decline hits bottom.

world organization and affiliates. The National Home Demonstration council will be represented by the central director, Mrs. James Potter of Raub, Indiana, who will install the 1958 executive board of Illinois Home Bureau federation.
